

John Billington JD, MPH
Senior Program Officer for Health Policy
Infectious Diseases Society of America (IDSA)

At IDSA, Mr. Billington manages a broad public health policy portfolio and serves as lead staff for immunization policy. He also serves as assigned staff for IDSA's Public Health Committee (PHC) and Antimicrobial resistance Committee (ARC). Prior to his role at IDSA, he was a manager in the health reform practice at Avalere Health, a health policy advisory firm in Washington, DC. He was also a legislative fellow for health policy in the DC office of U.S. Senator Sherrod Brown of Ohio.

Mr. Billington received his Juris Doctor and Masters of Public Health from the Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio. He received his undergraduate degree from Colgate University in Hamilton, New York.