

Rebecca Gehring MPH
Program Analyst for the Immunization and Billables Projects
National Association of City and County Health Officials

Ms. Gehring has created NACCHO's Billing for Clinical Services Toolkit, developed and analyzed multiple immunization related surveys, redesigned the Adult Hepatitis B Vaccination: An Implementation Guide for Local Public Health, and presented at the NACCHO Annual Meeting. She is a member of the National Conference on Immunization and Health Coalitions Planning Committee. With the National Adult and Influenza Immunization Summit, she has served on the Access and Collaboration Workgroup and as co-chair of the Policy and Decision Makers Workgroup.

Before working on the Immunization Project, Rebecca worked for the Medical Reserve Corps Project as a programmatic liaison to the Division of Civilian Volunteer Medical Reserve Corps (DCVMRC). Prior to joining NACCHO, Ms. Gehring worked as an Emergency Planner and Epidemiologist the Toledo-Lucas County Health Department, Ohio and served as a US Peace Corps Environmental and Health volunteer in Morocco. Rebecca received an MPH in Public Health Administration from the University of Toledo and her B.A. from Marietta College.