

Richard Martinello MD
Chief Consultant
Clinical Public Health
VA/Veterans Health Administration Office of Public Health

Dr. Martinello is the Chief Consultant for the VA Clinical Public Health group. The mission of this group is to improve the health and well-being of Veterans by providing clinical and policy expertise and leadership for the Veterans Health Administration community through sound public health policy and practices. VA Clinical Public Health has specific focus on HIV, viral hepatitis (including hepatitis C), tobacco cessation, influenza, hand hygiene, health-care associated infections, and public health investigations. VA is the largest provider of care for patients with HIV and hepatitis C in the US and one of the largest providers of influenza vaccination each year in the US.

Dr. Martinello received his medical degree from Loyola University Chicago, completed internship and residency in Internal Medicine and Pediatrics at Indiana University and fellowship training in infectious diseases and health care epidemiology at the Yale School of Medicine. He is an Associate Professor in Internal Medicine and Pediatrics at the Yale School of Medicine.