

Alexandra Stewart JD
Assistant Professor
Department of Health Policy
Milken Institute, School of Public Health
George Washington University

Professor Stewart's primary research and academic interests are in the area of U.S. vaccine policy and practice and how law can support public health vaccination goals for all populations in the U.S.

Her research projects have focused on policy and access issues surrounding: 1) Human Papillomavirus (HPV) vaccine; 2) how health reform impacts U.S. vaccine policy and practice; 3) the U.S. vaccine injury compensation program; 4) vaccines and autism; 5) popular myths and misperceptions related to vaccination; 6) immunization requirements for school and daycare entry; 7) U.S vaccine financing; 8) public and private insurance coverage; 9) the use of standing orders for vaccine delivery, and 10) mandatory vaccination of health care personnel.