

Kim Martin
Director of Immunization Policy
Association of State and Territorial Health Officers

In her role at ASTHO, Kim Martin works to evaluate emerging issues in immunization policy, develop strategies to enhance the effectiveness of state and territorial health agencies' immunization programs, and provide technical assistance to state and territorial health agencies to support their immunization efforts.

Prior to joining ASTHO, Ms. Martin implemented infectious disease prevention initiatives at the Boston Public Health Commission, which is the local health department in Boston, and also worked as a public health nurse in rural Wisconsin.