

Edward Wake
Public Health Advisor
National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

In his role as a Public Health Advisor, Edward Wake serves as the Adult Immunization Unit Chief at the New York City Health Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. Prior to his assignment in New York, he served as the Los Angeles County Regional Supervisor for the Vaccines for Children program for the California Department of Public Health.