

Mimi Huizinga MD, MPH
Chief Health Information Officer
Premier

Dr. Huizinga is an internist, epidemiologist and leader in achieving clinical excellence. She is well-versed in strategy, change management, performance improvement, informatics and large-dataset analytics.

Dr. Huizinga is the clinical leader in Premier's Information Technology Services, ensuring that Premier's information technology products and services meet the evolving needs of healthcare systems. In addition, she leads Premier's research enterprise. Dr. Huizinga often serves as the translator between clinical, informatics and technology, finance and administrative teams to enable consensus driven tactics that achieve meaningful results

Dr. Huizinga is a part-time faculty member at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, and she has previously worked at Vanderbilt University, LifePoint Hospitals, and McKinsey & Co.