

Kathy McNamara MA
Associate Vice President of Clinical Affairs
National Association of Community Health Centers (NACHC)

Kathy McNamara has more than 30 years of experience in building effective and appropriate community-oriented primary and preventive health care systems for underserved populations in both domestic and international settings. She is responsible for the day-to-day management of the Clinical Affairs Division and serves as the overall lead for the CDC's Office for State, Tribal, Local and Territorial Support (OSTLTS) cooperative agreement.

Ms. McNamara has been with the NACHC for more than 24 years. Previously, she worked in Bangladesh to establish a preventative health care program. Domestically, she spent several years implementing a primary health care system in the villages of the Alaskan bush. She received her BA in Nursing from the College of St. Scholastica and a Master's degree from Marymount University.
