

Cate Shockey
Lead, Seasonal Influenza Campaign
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

Ms. Shockey began her role with the seasonal influenza campaign in June, after spending five years in CDC's preparedness and response office. She has worked on the digital side of the Ebola and Zika responses by managing CDC's emergency social media channels, the Public Health Matters blog, and developing graphics and children's materials.