

National Adult Immunization Coordinators' Partnership (NAICP) Quarterly Call

February 13, 2018
2:00 - 3:00 p.m. (EST)

David Kim, MD

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)

Dr. David Kim has been with the CDC since 1995 and joined the Immunization Services Division in 2014. Among other duties, he is the CDC lead for the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) Adult Immunizations Working Group and presides over the adult immunization schedule.

Kathleen Dooling, MD, MPH

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)

Dr. Kathleen Dooling is board certified in Preventive Medicine in the US and Canada and is a Medical Officer at the CDC. She earned her medical degree from Memorial University of Newfoundland, her MPH from Johns Hopkins School of Public Health and completed her residency training in Public Health at the University of Toronto. After working as an Associate Medical Officer of Health, Dr. Dooling joined the Epidemic Intelligence Service Fellowship at CDC.

Dr. Dooling is the CDC lead for the zoster vaccine work group of the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP). She supports evidence informed policy development through sound investigation of burden of disease, vaccine efficacy/effectiveness and safety as well as economic evaluation. One of her areas of particular interest is health communications and she hosts CDC's Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report (MMWR) podcast.

Michael C. Caldwell, MD, MPH, FACP

GlaxoSmithKline (GSK)

Dr. Michael Caldwell joined GSK in March 2017 as the Director of Scientific Affairs and Public Health, Vaccines. He is a graduate of Columbia University, an internal medicine physician trained at the Mount Sinai Medical Center with a MPH from Harvard, and he completed a Preventive Medicine residency program at State University of New York, Albany.

Dr. Caldwell served for 19 years as the Commissioner of Health for Dutchess County, New York. While serving as commissioner, he created a clinical investigational drug research unit within his public health department that specialized in vaccine research, including studies for HIV, Hepatitis, Lyme disease, Herpes, Seasonal and Pandemic Flu, and HPV vaccine. As a member of the GSK Scientific Affairs and Public Health team, Dr. Caldwell's work is currently focused on adult vaccination including the newly approved zoster vaccine.

Val Steinbacher, MBA

GlaxoSmithKline (GSK)

Ms. Val Steinbacher is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill with a degree in Economics. She received her MBA from Elon University.
