

Eric Larson
IIS Contractor
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
American Immunization Registry Association (AIRA)

Eric Larson has been working to advance Immunization Information Systems since 2001. He worked for several years as an IIS implementer helping several states implement and maintain their IIS before transitioning to a contractor role for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, where he works on clinical decision support initiatives. Mr. Larson also works with the American Immunization Registry Association (AIRA) on their IIS Measurement and Improvement program.