

Jeanne Santoli MD
Chief
Vaccine Supply and Assurance Branch
Immunization Services Division
National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases
Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

Dr. Santoli has worked at CDC since 1998 and currently serves as the Chief of the Vaccine Supply and Assurance Branch in the Immunization Services Division in the National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases. This branch is responsible for activities related to vaccine spend plans, procurement, and distribution, as well as management of national vaccine supply disruptions, maintenance of pediatric vaccine stockpiles, and the provision of technical assistance to state immunization programs around vaccine storage and handling. In addition, the branch works collaboratively with CDC's IT team to support vaccine ordering system and activities.

Dr. Santoli completed pediatric training and a fellowship in primary care research at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine.