American Society of Consultant Pharmacists (ASCP)

Chad Worz is the chief executive of the American Society of Consultant Pharmacists (ASCP) and a board certified geriatric pharmacist.

The American Society of Consultant Pharmacists (ASCP) is the only international professional society devoted to optimal medication management and improved health outcomes for all older persons. ASCP's senior care consultant pharmacist members manage and improve quality of life of geriatric patients and other individuals residing in a variety of environments, including nursing facilities, sub-acute care and assisted living facilities, psychiatric hospitals, hospice programs, and home and community-based care.

A board-certified geriatric pharmacist and graduate of the University of Cincinnati College of Pharmacy, Worz's career has focused on the medication management of older adults. Worz developed an innovative clinical practice in a long-term care setting in Ohio and directed the pharmacy practice of a regional, independent pharmacy serving 10,000 long-term care residents. Worz established a nation-wide, geriatric-based pharmacist consulting company to educate and serve nursing facility residents, nursing facility administration, long-term care pharmacies, and the public through a comprehensive knowledge of medication use. He is a national thought leader in geriatrics, long term care pharmacy and medication related topics and has served on a number of national boards related to pharmacy and medication utilization.
