

Kathleen Glassner, DrPH, MPH
Associate Director
Field Medical at Moderna

Kathleen Glassner, DrPH, MPH, is an Associate Director, Field Medical at Moderna. For the past five years, she has represented U.S. Medical Affairs, partnering with leading medical societies and public health stakeholders, and supporting engagement with national vaccine policy and recommendation-setting bodies.

Prior to joining Moderna, Dr. Glassner spent over 20 years at Merck, where she served as a Vaccine Medical Science Liaison and held various roles supporting state-level vaccine policy and public health initiatives. She earned both her Doctor of Public Health (DrPH) and Master of Public Health (MPH) degrees from the University of South Florida