

Richard Hughes IV, JD, MPH
Partner, Epstein Becker Green,
Professorial Lecturer in Law,
The George Washington University Law School

Richard Hughes IV, JD, MPH, is a nationally recognized thought leader in vaccines and prevention, working and teaching at the intersection of public health and healthcare law and policy.

Mr. Hughes is a partner at Epstein, Becker & Green where he leads a multidisciplinary team of attorneys and advisors. He was formerly vice president of public policy at Moderna, guiding the company's policy strategy during the COVID-19 pandemic.

He teaches vaccine law at The George Washington University Law School. Mr. Hughes is a popular public speaker, frequently publishes articles and commentaries, and is regularly quoted in prominent news media outlets, including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Atlantic, The Guardian, The Washington Post, The Los Angeles Times, NPR, The Boston Globe, Politico, Forbes and The Hill.