

Kate Mevis
Executive Director
US Vaccine Policy
Merck

Kate Mevis is the Executive Director of US Vaccine Policy at Merck, covering federal and state vaccine policy issues. Prior to her current role, she served in health policy roles in the Obama White House and at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Health Resources & Services Administration (HRSA). She also held multiple positions in the U.S. Senate, including as the Staff Director for the Senate Aging Committee. She has been at the forefront of major U.S. health policy initiatives over the last two decades, including passing, implementing, and protecting the Affordable Care Act, the Cancer Moonshot, addressing the opioid epidemic, and now, safeguarding vaccine policies and programs. She graduated from the George Washington University with a B.A., as well as a Graduate Certificate in Political Psychology. She lives in Bethesda, MD with her family.