

Kelly L. Moore, MD, MPH
President and Chief Executive Officer
Immunize.org

Dr. Kelly L. Moore is the president and CEO of Immunize.org and an adjunct associate professor of health policy with the Vanderbilt School of Medicine. Before her current role, Dr. Moore served for 14 years as the director of the Tennessee Immunization Program and later operated as a consultant to advise public health and industry on vaccination policy and programs. She served in a variety of immunization policy advisory roles with the World Health Organization, including as chair of its Immunization Practices Advisory Committee. She has a long history with the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) as a working group member, liaison representative of the Association of Immunization Managers (2011–2015), and as a voting member (2015–2019). Dr. Moore is a graduate of the Vanderbilt School of Medicine and the Harvard School of Public Health. Following her pediatric internship year at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, she completed her public health leadership training as an Epidemic Intelligence Service Officer and preventive medicine resident with the CDC.